

Authors Biography

Global South Review

Muhammad Faisal Javier Anwar is a master's student in the Department of International Relations at Universitas Gadjah Mada. Faisal has been working as writer staff at Tempo since 2021. He earned his Bachelor of International Relations from Universitas Airlangga. His research interests include international political economy, industrial policy, development studies, and foreign policy. He is currently writing a thesis on the political economy of textile deindustrialization in Indonesia post-1997 Asian financial crisis. He can be contacted at muhfaisal1107@gmail.com.

Ahmad Salim is a master's student in the Department of International Relations at Universitas Gadjah Mada. He earned his Bachelor of Political Science from the Department of International Relations at Universitas Hasanuddin. His academic interests focus on peace studies and conflict resolution, with a particular emphasis on understanding the dynamics of conflict transformation and sustainable peacebuilding in the Global South. His work explores how structural, social, and political factors shape conflict and reconciliation processes across diverse contexts. He can be contacted at ahmadsalkaf@gmail.com.

Yosua Saut Marulitua Gultom is an Independent Researcher. He earned his Bachelor's Degree in International Relations from Universitas Pembangunan Nasional Veteran Jakarta. Previously, he interned as a research intern at various think tanks in Indonesia, including Laboratorium Indonesia 2045 and the Center for Indonesian Policy Studies (CIPS). He was also an intern as Assistant to the MP's Expert Staff at Commission III in the House of Representatives of the Republic of Indonesia. He has research interests in foreign policy analysis, global governance, and International Relations Theories within the Indo-Pacific, ASEAN, and EU regions. He covers a range of topics, including security, the economy, the environment, and social justice.

Rizky Hikmawan is a lecturer in International Relations at Universitas Pembangunan Nasional Veteran Jakarta. He earned his bachelor's degree in International Relations from Universitas Al Azhar Indonesia. He later obtained his master's degree in European Studies from the School of Strategic and Global Studies, Universitas Indonesia. His research interests focus on issues of global and regional governance, particularly in Europe, the Middle East, and the Indo-Pacific. In addition, he serves as a national board member of the Indonesian Association of International Relations Scholars (AIHII) for the 2023-2026 term and as a national board member of The Indonesian Islamic Studies and International Relations Association (INSIERA) for the 2022-2025 term.

Azyumardi Mumtazul Umam is a final-year International Relations student at Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta, with a specialized focus on International Policy and Political Economy. His academic work investigates the resilience of multilateral institutions amidst shifting geopolitical landscapes. Notably, he authored the academic research titled “Kerjasama Regional dalam Dinamika Global: Efektivitas Rezim APEC di Tengah Perang Dagang AS-Tiongkok 2018-2020,” which critically analyzed the efficacy of regional frameworks during high-intensity trade conflicts. Complementing his research, he has gained practical experience in economic diplomacy through his internship at the Trade Attaché Office of the Indonesian Embassy in Cairo. A future diplomat, he is dedicated to bridging the gap between theoretical frameworks and actionable foreign policy strategies to better understand how nations navigate complex global economic challenges.

Arif Darmawan is a Lecturer at the Faculty of Social and Political Sciences (FISIP), Universitas Jenderal Soedirman (UNSOED), Indonesia. His research focuses on Southeast Asian regional studies, Indonesian foreign policy, environmental politics, and AI integration in International Relations pedagogy. He is also a Researcher at the Southeast Asia Strategic Policy Research Center (SEARC), UNSOED.

Elpeni Fitrah is a Lecturer at the Faculty of Social and Political Sciences (FISIP), Universitas Jenderal Soedirman (UNSOED), Indonesia. His research focuses on international security studies, Indonesian foreign policy, and ASEAN and Indo-Pacific dynamics. He is also a Researcher at the Southeast Asia Strategic Policy Research Center (SEARC), UNSOED.

Renny Miryanti is a Lecturer at the Faculty of Social and Political Sciences (FISIP), Universitas Jenderal Soedirman (UNSOED), Indonesia. Her research focuses on international political economy, Indonesian diplomacy and multilateralism, and regional cooperation in ASEAN. She is also a Researcher at the Southeast Asia Strategic Policy Research Center (SEARC), UNSOED.

Soni Martin Anwar is a Lecturer at the Faculty of Social and Political Sciences (FISIP), Universitas Jenderal Soedirman (UNSOED), Indonesia. His research focuses on international law, geopolitics, and Indonesian foreign policy. He is also a Researcher at the Southeast Asia Strategic Policy Research Center (SEARC), UNSOED.

Kiky Srirejeki is a Lecturer at the Faculty of Economics and Business, Universitas Jenderal Soedirman (UNSOED), Indonesia. Her research focuses on fraud and corruption, management accounting and control systems, and ethics and governance. She is also a Researcher at the Southeast Asia Strategic Policy Research Center (SEARC), UNSOED.

Aryuni Yuliantiningsih is a Lecturer at the Faculty of Law, Universitas Jenderal Soedirman (UNSOED), Indonesia. Her research focuses on international law and law of the sea, human rights and refugee protection, and transnational crime and maritime security. She is also a Researcher at the Southeast Asia Strategic Policy Research Center (SEARC), UNSOED.

Ulil Afwa is a Lecturer at the Faculty of Law, Universitas Jenderal Soedirman (UNSOED), Indonesia. Her research focuses on business law and corporate governance, sociology and anthropology of law, and intellectual property and local economic development. She is also a Researcher at the Southeast Asia Strategic Policy Research Center (SEARC), UNSOED.

Hanifa Pascarina is a Lecturer at the Faculty of Humanities, Universitas Jenderal Soedirman (UNSOED), Indonesia. Her research focuses on translation studies, applied linguistics, and English language teaching. She is also a Researcher at the Southeast Asia Strategic Policy Research Center (SEARC), UNSOED.

Jessenia Destarini Asmoro is an advocacy officer and researcher in the Commission for the Disappeared and Victims of Violence (KontraS), an organization focusing on human rights advocacy based in Indonesia. She received her Bachelor of Arts in International Relations from Universitas Gadjah Mada. Her research interests are feminism, political violence, human rights, transitional justice, political economy development, and non-traditional security. She can be contacted through destarini@kontras.org.

Dendy Raditya Atmosuwito is a dedicated Political Analyst and Civil Servant currently serving at the National and Political Unity Office (Bakesbangpol) of the Yogyakarta City Government. He is an alumnus of Universitas Gadjah Mada (UGM), where he earned his Bachelor of Political Science from the Department of Public Policy and Management. His professional background includes a four-year tenure as a Knowledge Manager at the Creative Hub, FISIPOL UGM. As a prolific essayist, Dendy frequently contributes insights on political affairs and public policy to prominent national media outlets. His current research focuses on national resilience and cognitive warfare, reflecting his active role in maintaining social stability during the 2024 national and regional elections in Yogyakarta.

Yunus Ikhsan Bahari is a Junior Researcher specializing in public policy analysis, digital governance, and strategic regional research in Southeast Asia. He holds a Double Degree background from Universitas Gadjah Mada (UGM) and Universitas Mahakarya Asia, covering Public Policy, Business Management, and Economics. His research expertise spans quantitative and qualitative methodologies, with a particular focus on evidence-based policy and big data analytics in both domestic and international policy contexts. Previously, he served as a Junior Researcher at Asia Strategic Research, where he authored official parliamentary desk research for the House of Representatives of the Republic of Indonesia (DPR RI) regarding ASEAN regulatory frameworks. Beyond academia, he is an active entrepreneur as the founder of Polka TMS, a business in the tire industry, and Vektor International, an AI and data analytics venture builder.

Wibi Lungidradityo is an alumnus of the Department of Politics and Government at Universitas Gadjah Mada (UGM) and is currently pursuing a Master's degree in the National Resilience program at the same institution. His academic interests focus on military history and strategic studies, particularly the intricate relationship between warfare, tactics, and doctrine. Wibi occasionally contributes opinion articles to national media outlets on issues related to military affairs and contemporary conflict. His research examines the evolving nature of warfare and how the practical realities of conflict shape new paradigms in strategic and security thinking.