

Authors Biography

Global South Review

Vol. 3, No.1, January 2021

Ahmad Rizky M. Umar is an Associate Lecturer at the School of Political Science and International Studies, University of Queensland, Australia. He completed PhD in Political Science and International Studies from the University of Queensland (2022), MSc in Politics with Research Methods from the University of Sheffield (2016), and BA in International Relations from Universitas Gadjah Mada (2013). Previously, he was a researcher at ASEAN Studies Center, Universitas Gadjah Mada, where he also became executive secretary between 2016-2017, and a sessional teacher at Griffith University between 2021-2022. His PhD thesis traces the history of the idea of Asia in world politics. His essays were shortlisted for the Northedge Prize, Millennium Journal of International Studies (2020), and awarded Junior Scholar Paper Award by the English School Section, International Studies Association (2021). His research interest spans around Indonesia's foreign policy, regionalism in Southeast Asia, and global intellectual history.

Ferdian Ahya Al Putra is a lecturer at the International Relations Department, Universitas Sebelas Maret, Surakarta, Indonesia. He is also awardee of LPDP Scholarship provided by the Ministry of Finance of Republic Indonesia. He has finished his study from the Program of Master in International Relations, Universitas Gadjah Mada and previously finished his bachelor degree from International Relations Department, Universitas Sebelas Maret. He is already involved in various researches related to International Studies. His specialization is on international development and cooperation studies, especially on labor issues. He is also active in following the current issues and writing his thoughts regarding the developing issues and publishing his articles for mass media.

Ikhlas Tawazun is a graduate of International Relations from Universitas Indonesia. Graduated in 2022, he chose to research the policymaking of EU CBAM as his bachelor's thesis. In his study, Ikhlas specializes in international political economy. Ikhlas also held a long-standing interest in US and European politics. Ikhlas is currently working as a policy advocate intern at the American Chamber of Commerce in Indonesia. Ikhlas aspires to develop his career and expertise in relating to business, policy, and international affairs. Previous to writing for the Global South Journal, Ikhlas has also published several articles in ASEAN Insights and BALAIRUNG: Jurnal Multidisipliner Mahasiswa Indonesia.

Natasya Dewi Shafira is a graduate of International Relations from Universitas Indonesia. A pronounced winner of several regional essay competitions, her previous works encompass the issue of cooperation and diplomacy, human rights, and ASEAN.

She has spent the last 4 years researching and curating writings for professional matters or in her down time, with topic of interests that span across international political economy, international development, foreign policy, and multinational companies. Natasya now works in the field of development, where she cultivates relationship with key stakeholders working to reduce poverty and disseminates lessons from research for policy-making.

Ni Nyoman Clara Listya Dewi is a lecturer of International Relations at Udayana University and Director of Engagement at BASAbali Wiki, an organization that empowers the local community to preserve local language and culture. Her research interests are related to circular economy issues, global political economy and gender studies. She is awarded as a National Geographic Explorer in 2019 with her project entitled “Using a Digital ‘Superhero’ to Promote Reduction of Ocean Plastic Pollution as Local Indonesian Values.” She is also known as a speaker for many various youth events and in academic forum. Effective teamwork begins and ends with communication, is her motto. She can be reached at claralistya@unud.ac.id and nyomanclara@gmail.com.

Demas Nauvarian is a research staff at the Center for Strategic and Global Studies, Department of International Relations, Universitas Airlangga, Surabaya, Indonesia. He previously graduated from the Master of International Relations programme of the same university. His research interests include Chinese foreign policy, Identity in International Relations, and World Order Theories. His most recent writing, ‘ASEAN, COVID-19 and Myanmar crisis: Dealing with critical juncture’, was published in International Area Studies Review. He could be contacted through demasnauvarian@gmail.com.

Filasafia Marsya Ma’rifat is currently a junior lecturer in International Relations Department, Universitas Islam Negeri Sunan Ampel Surabaya. She graduated from International Relations Universitas Gadjah Mada in 2020. Her previous writings were about ‘the Walt Disney Company’s strategy in expanding its theme park in China’, and ‘China’s Economic Openness vis-à-vis Barriers to Foreign Investment: China’s Policy on the Mode of Entry of Audiovisual Entertainment Product’. If you have any further inquiries, you can contact her at filasafiamarsya@gmail.com.

Anisa Risanti Suhita is a final year of Master International Relation of Universitas Gadjah Mada. She is currently writing her thesis about Global Value Chain on Beauty Industries and also focusing her career on the study of sustainable development and climate resilience on developing countries. If you have any question, you can contact her at anisarisanti96@mail.ugm.ac.id

Trisni Salsa Ramadina graduated from International Relations Department Universitas Gadjah Mada. She has always been interested in learning politics of China. The latest of her research was The Sinicization Policy of the Chinese Government in the Era of President Xi Jinping: Motives & Impact on the Uyghur Ethnic Group in Xinjiang. If you have any further inquiries, you can contact her at trisni.salsa@mail.ugm.ac.id

Ica Cahayani is a graduate student in International Relations, Universitas Gadjah Mada. Enthusiastic, passionate and a high desire to explore knowledge related to environmental and economy sustainability, climate change, international cooperation and development covering the realms of global political economy, security, global value chains and diplomacy. Currently, focusing on conducting research on the relationship between politics in global south countries, climate change, economy and ekonomi sharia, digital finance, the environment and the role of international regimes in climate change issues such as the G20, UNFCCC and the Paris Agreement.