1. Introduction

Charismatic leadership is the ability of the individual using the privileges possessed to influence the thoughts, feelings and behavior of others as well as inflicting a sense of awe that other people's belief to follow what is delivered the person (Karim, Mansir, et al., 2020; Lussier & Achua, 2016). Teacher himself is a leader that can show the great influence of the learners in a change in behavior and competence so that the charisma attached to a teacher become an important part that must be realized by each teacher.

Based on the observation of charismatic teacher leadership that the 20 teachers who became respondents, generally not all teachers have the proximity to lure students in the aspects of thoughts, feelings and behavior in the conduct of changes in behavior and competence consistently and entrenchedly (Skinner et al., 2008). Teachers in fulfilling their tasks by knowledge transfer and knowledge sharing (Karim & Hartati, 2020; Saripudin & Rosari, 2019). Teachers move knowledge to the learners are then used in accordance with the needs, such as understanding the text, and do the task. In upper secondary education teachers exchange knowledge with learners to improve thoughts and ideas. The teacher's task in transferring knowledge and knowledge is an indicator of the weight of the teacher's burden in educating and guiding students. The second task of the teacher is able to stop lesson in the classroom when the lesson finishes (Andina, 2018).

The teacher is a role model of the students which can inspire for everything delivered and done by teachers. Learners generally put a great trust to the teacher in different things. Teachers serve as role models for academic, social, and spiritual (Muslimah et al., 2021; Sutisna et al., 2019). Teachers are often used as role models for students in behavior, manners and other characters that can be imitated. The character and charismatic teacher is usually used as a reference for students in achieving their goals in the future. The confidence of students to teachers can be used to motivate and inspire, to achieve the goals, to change the behavior of even to improve the competence. Teachers should have distinctive form of grace of charisma to influence the learners become better in many ways. Charisma is a gift that is Divinely inspired (Karim, Purnomo, et al., 2020; Lussier & Achua, 2016; Sa’ad, 2017; Sujudi & Komariah, 2020). Charisma is the ability to inspire and captivate an audience that is obtained not by exercise (Lussier & Achua, 2016; Sa’ad, 2017). Charisma arise because of righteousness on the principle of his life on the right path (Ajan et al., 2018; Sa’ad, 2017).

The charisma of the teacher is the part that should be attached to each of the teachers in terms of personal qualities whether they are in the spiritual, academic and normative order, not just teachers of Islamic Religious Education. Charisma teacher arises from the ability of the spiritual high that obtained for the transcendent with the approach of the Divine through fertilization spiritual aspects (Karim & Afnan, 2020; Sa’ad, 2017). In the Islamic perspective cultivates the spiritual aspects of which can be done by turning on the third part of the night by qiyamun lail, read the Quran and pray for the pious people, including students, run each of the sunnah—the sunnah from the Prophet, peace be upon him. Solutions to make on the normative order become a part of the alignment of personal qualities (Boudreau et al., 1999; Purnomo et al., 2020).

The efforts of the coaching teacher to have personal quality and alignment with the normative order into parts that should be pursued. Re-doing mindset gradually to become a charismatic leader in a school is not impossible. With the awareness that the teacher can cultivate the spiritual aspects and set the normative order consistently, with the hope of emerging specialty in a transcendent effect on motivating the learners to follow the changes to become better (Gavin, 2002; Karim, 2016).

The teacher is a professional educator who serves to guide the learners to gain understanding, and educate so noble and training to acquire specific skills so that it becomes a human-grade (Ajan et al., 2018; A. M. M. Amin & Othma, 2019; Lubis & Anggraeni, 2019; Rahim et al., 2020). Teachers have a noble duty to educate learners to be more knowledgeable, more moral, and have the ability to overcome the problem of his life (N. L. Ahmad & Majid, 2018; Ajan et al., 2018; Badrasawi, 2019; Irham & Basith, 2018; Khareng et al., 2020; Muslimah et al., 2021; Noorlizawati & Lee, 2021; Sa’ad, 2017; Sutisna et al., 2019). With science and morals that the teacher should be able to affect the learners, to be able to bring up the potential ability, to be actual ability which is processed through learning activities. Like a farmer who planted the seeds, nurture plants will be able to pluck the result.

The teacher serves as a watchdog, entertainers, reminders, invites and lights a lamp for learners at school and at home (Hussin, 2019; Khareng et al., 2020; Muslimah et al., 2021). Run the noble task of not only rely on academic ability, but also strength of the spiritual become an important part to bring up the charisma as a teacher (Karim & Hartati, 2020; Sa’ad, 2017). Teachers build closeness with the learners can even treat learners like treating himself (Hussin, 2019; Irham & Basith, 2018; Khareng et al., 2020; Sa’ad, 2017).

The teacher as a role model for students which in Javanese means "digugu and ditiru" has a major impact in realizing the competencies and aspirations of students so that the charisma of a teacher will usually be seen from the style and delivery of the teacher in teaching. Charismatic leadership teachers can realize the vision that built its competence. That vision is the master guide to run the task as a leader in the school. The process of charismatic leadership is done through a process of interactive and dynamic affect other people so inspire and motivate to get the expected results (Karim, Faiz, et al., 2020; Khareng et al., 2020). Charismatic leadership embodied by teachers have an effect on the confidence of students - to change behavior and improve the competence, loyalty and responsibility as well as motivation to achieve her goals (M. Amin, 2017; Karim et al., 2019; Lussier & Achua, 2016).

The quality of graduates is a product of an educational institution which includes character and competence (Irham & Basith, 2018; Newton, 2016). The quality of the graduates not only need to be stimulated through intra-curricular, extra-curricular activity, habituation, which is done by the teacher, but also to build closeness with the learners so that they have an effect on the improvement of the character and competence. This study was conducted to determine the effect of charismatic teacher leadership in fostering the quality of graduates at senior high school which is based on the contribution of teachers in educating, guiding and teaching students who become role models for students in their daily life behavior. However, in reality in schools, it turns out that not all teacher examples are used as references for students in shaping character. This is due to the lack of motivation of students in getting used to good behavior and self-discipline to achieve their dreams.

Research on charismatic leadership has been conducted by Eldasisca Dwapatesty, Nurhizrah Gistituati, dan Rusdinal (2021) which explains that charismatic leadership has a relationship with teacher performance motivation. Other researchers, Lilah Holilah, Rhini Fatmasari, and Tita Rosita (2021) have also investigated the Influence of Charismatic Leadership and Teacher Personality Competence on Teacher Work Discipline.

Based on the issues above, the problem formulated is how charismatic teacher leadership can have an impact on the character of students so that it can improve the quality of graduates in senior high school?

Data analysis was done through content analysis and discusses in depth a written information from various sources in order to obtain a conclusion (Oberhuber & Maurer, 2015). Data collected was carried out by means of credibility, transferability, dependability, and confirm-ability (Fikriyah et al., 2021; Haradhan Mohajan, 2018; Karim, 2015).

3. Result and Discussion

The various information that has been analyzed and fulfilled the validation stage, the author can present some of the data as follows:

3.1 Develop Beliefs and Strong Bond Learners To Change Behavior And Improve the competence of critical thinking

Belief is the psychological state of the indicated individual in believing something. The conviction arises from a belief in what he believes is the truth. In the context of education, the teacher is a figure that students believe in aspects of his thoughts, his words, even his behavior. The efficacy of the self is the ability of an individual to do something he believes in.

The teacher’s obedience in carrying out the religious teachings adopted is always used as an example by the students. This The observance of an obedience to teachers in carrying the teachings of religion, shows the attitude of tolerant and keep strong bond life that is entrenched into a noble example for students. The behavior of greeting when meeting students and colleagues, showing concern social in a variety of forms, and caring for the environment in various forms become a magnet for the learners to do the same thing. The way teachers respect and value the learners in the learning process and peers at school and in the community, the behavior of mutual help and help, not to impose the will of the students and colleagues as well as maintain harmony in a school that look into the eyes of the learners into energy to change the behavior of religious students to be better.

This can be an example that can be emulated learners to show toughness in completing each task of the school, the spirit of the finish and go on to study as well as not easily despair facing various trials. Do not perform actions that make learners or peers feel uncomfortable even in the form of verbal even they have their own impression in the eyes of the learners. Respond to any questions and feedback in the process of learning with the language of manners are forms of compassion shown by the teacher to the learners. This effect on the learners have the confidence to do the same thing to the other. Give coaching with good advice to students regardless of talent and intelligence appeal sense are recognized and become the main attraction for learners. This gives the impression of meaningful and elicits admiration in the minds of the learners. There is the same impulse to cultivate a sense of compassion toward fellow friends and the environment.

The effect of charismatic leadership teachers not only have implications on the belief change and behavior of the learners include religious, disciplined, tough and affection, but the increase of competence include communication, collaboration, creative and critical thinking into the important effects of charismatic leadership teacher. The achievement of academic teachers through education, research and devotion became a source of inspiration for learners for example in improving their competence. Until there is a desire in the future when it becomes the same figure, wants to teach the same as that indicated by the teacher. How to teacher solve problem who is embodied in a paper that is published into the belief of the learners to improve the competence of critical thinking.

The data about the model problem solving learning that teachers use can stimulate learners to improve competence is done to provide an opportunity for measuring the breadth to students to solve the problem in accordance with the strategy (Rofiqah et al., 2020; Selvia et al., 2020). This learning model also have an impact on the skills of information literacy, reasoning adaptive students and have the ability to cope with problems in daily life (Gani et al., 2021; Handayani & Louise, 2019; Muin et al.,
The use of this learning model can foster the confidence to improve their competence.

Skills to find a new idea shown in the process of learning inspire students to show their creativity in their daily lives. The skill of the teacher in presenting learning with variations in the development of learning methods, media and learning strategy into an attractive way can be emulated by other teachers and learners in improving innovation in the learning process.

3.2 Loyalty And Responsibility of Students

The data shows that the loyalty teachers implement learning activities in the classroom starting from the opening activity, this activity up to cover consistently and continuously shows a form of loyalty towards learners. The way thus becomes its own impression for learners to be able to show his loyalty to the other aspects in carrying responsibilities. Otherwise, the data shows that the awareness of the teacher to bear all the risk of the job is indicated with carrying out the work as an educator, mentor, and coach without prompting the head of the school entrenchedly in the intra-curricular and extra-curricular activities is a manifestation of the responsibility of the teacher in carrying out the task. Behavior bores all the risk that is seen by students to be the behavior that can be imitated in homework and house chores without having to be told to parents or teachers but appear with his consciousness. The data loyalty and awareness above is in line with several other reviewers that that teacher loyalty had a significant effect on teacher performance (Firmiana & Nida, 2015). Other researcher data said the quality of teacher commitment can determine the quality in educating, guiding, and teaching (Jannah, 2014). The ability of teachers to motivate students in the learning process becomes an important part for motivation for the learners so that they can foster the learning achievement (Abdullah et al., 2016; Fahri & Isa, 2018). Motivation can cultivate the seriousness of carrying out the task, show a spirit of cooperation and have the confidence to achieve the purpose of which it is influenced by the efficacy teacher himself (T. B. T. Ahmad et al., 2018; Ismail & Mohamad, 2019). The efficacy of the self-play role to bring up the ability of the individual to carry out a task (Fahri & Isa, 2018; Handayani & Louise, 2019). Such is the case with the students, the motivation that appears is based on the efficacy of self-learners.
